

RULES OF PROCEDURE: AUSTRO-PRUSSIAN WAR

JCC: Austro Prussian War is based on standard Harvard MUN Procedure with following additions in order to reflect the reality of the simulated time-span

QUORUM

Since the size of the committees are considerably small, the quorum shall be the $\frac{1}{2}$ of the committee, if the Secretariat deems it necessary, Secretariat reserves its right to re-arrange the quorum percentage.

DEBATE

After the role-call, and when the committee meets the quorum. Chair opens the debate with mandatory Tour de Table in each session beginning, addition to that, there will be no Opening Speech in the first Session. There is no General Speaker's List different to the classical Harvard MUN, debate will go on with Semi-Moderated Caucus or Unmoderated Caucus.

Semi Moderated Caucus: Different to the Moderated Caucus, there is no time limit or individual speaker's time in Semi-Moderated Caucus, delegates can sit while speaking and may use informal words up to a limit and interrupt other speakers up to a point, any exploitation of the informal language and right to interrupt will not be tolerated. It is up to Chair's discretion to end a speech or caucus with the condition of giving an explanation about his/her decision regarding to the matter.

Unmoderated Caucus: Same as Harvard MUN Procedure, but there is no upper time limit except Chair's discretion.

DOCUMENTS

JCC: Austro-Prussian War shall have three different types of documents, Directives, Press Release and Final Treaty

Personal Directive: Based on given title to the delegate (ex: Minister of Foreign Affairs) Chair can authorize the delegate to write personal directives in order to solve the given issue to the committee. Delegates shall request the right of writing personal directives via message paper, or their own speaking time during the debate. Without the Chair's authorization, any personal directive shall be considered invalid. There is no specific format of Personal Directive, but it must include a reasonable action.

Committee Directive: With issues requires the attention of entire committee, action must be taken via Committee Directive. Committee Directive has a same nature with Personal Directive in means of including an action plan and no specific format. It passes by simple majority, however Chair has right to veto it.

Press Release: Press Release is a document prepared in order to brief the public and international community regarding to ongoing events. Press Release must be in briefing format regarding to actions taken by committee. Delegates can twist the truth in order to manipulate public opinion, indirectly effect the course of war or mislead the enemy with Press Releases.

Final Treaty: If the conflict ends until the last session of the conference, Both Parties shall have a merged session and draft the Final Treaty, which includes the specific terms of peace, article by article.

SPECIAL FEATURE

Private Negotiation: If any party of the conflict wants to create an open line of communication with other party or other participants of the conflict (which will be represented by Secretariat) They can assign their Ambassadors in order to engage a private negotiation process outside of the committee if both parties agreed to have a meeting. Sending an Ambassador must be a unanimous decision of the committee. This meeting shall be conducted under the observation of at least one member of Secretariat. Only Ambassadors can attend those meetings. Ambassadors have to make an oral presentation to their respective committees after the end of meeting in order to brief them.
